Mones says...

In my last Mones says, I spoke about a need for humility that leads to the embrace of the best of the main four expressions of the Christian faith today in order to be impactful in our society and the culture of our time. Humility is essential to walking this path, humility before God, and in interacting with our brothers and sisters who express their faith life and walk with God in a different way to the way we do.

Generosity is the other essential characteristic needed to regain our impact and mission in society today. Generosity itself is not only about financial giving and liberality, rather it first starts with generosity of heart and spirit. It is when we see the other, and we are willing to contemplate an acceptance of who they are although we would want to challenge them to rise higher and become all that God intended them to be.

However, financial generosity is essential also, resourcing Kingdom work is a call on every believer and follower of Jesus Christ. There are so many demands on our finances today, and many of us can barely make it to the end of the month without being so stressed about the state of our finances. Nonetheless a call to be generous resounds throughout the whole scriptures. In the Old Testament to guard the soul and spirit of the individual from capitulating to Mammon, (the spiritual power of money) they were asked to give the tithe of what they earned or grew in their fields, so that God's house will be full (Malachi 3:10). In the New Testament the call is even more drastic, for Jesus affirms the widow that gave all that she had.

The church and its members need to be generous beyond anyone and everyone outside of it, for in this place of generosity we will see ministry flourishing and the world impacted.

Furthermore generosity still has a third prong - generosity of spirit. Financial generosity and a liberality with our talents and gifts.

A generous Church is both attractive to God and those who surround it, a generous church is impactful and influential and a generous church is strong enough to transform its surrounding.

Leviticus 25:35-37, Deuteronomy 15:7-8, Psalm 41:1-3, Psalm 119:36, Proverbs 11:24-25, Proverbs 19:17, Proverbs 21:13, Proverbs 22:9, Matthew 6:19-21, Matthew 10:42, Luke 6:37-38, Luke 21:1-4, John 3:16, Acts 20:32-35, 2 Corinthians 8:12-15, 2 Corinthians 9:6-8, Galatians 6:2, 1 John 2:5-6, 1 John 3:16-18, 1 Timothy 6:17-19.

These are a few verses about generosity in the Bible, and believe me there are more, go on take the tour, check them out.
